

Next Step Prompts for Prioritizing Adolescent Friendly Care

Now think about concrete actions you can take to better ensure that you and your clinic prioritize adolescent-friendly care. The following statements can serve as prompts to help you identify potential next steps.

1. Identify at least one new adolescent-friendly strategy to implement in your school-based health setting or organization over the next three months.

Think about the six strategies described in this section of the toolkit. What strategies or examples sparked your interest? Think about how implementing this/these strategy(ies) might look in your setting. Determine and set a concrete goal and timeline.

2. Identify at least one existing adolescent-friendly strategy in your school-based health setting or organization to improve over the next three months.

Think about something you or your clinic already does to ensure that sexual health services are adolescent friendly. Consider one small change or improvement that could make this strategy more effective. Test the idea. Then consider an additional small change.
